

Cilla

When Cilla was rescued she was five years old. She had lived all her life in a dirty and dark shed. She had been kept by a bad breeder who only wanted to sell her puppies.

Living in a dark shed with eyes that didn't work made everything scary for Cilla. She could not look around and see where noises came from. She was easily startled by sounds. If only she could see better it would have been a bit less scary for Cilla in the shed. Nobody cared that she was scared and blind.

She spent time in a vet hospital where her eyes were treated. Sadly one of them was too bad to fix and had to be removed. Lots of people cared about making this good for Cilla and she was much, much better when her bad eye was taken out.

Cilla gets along fine in her new life with her new family with just one eye. She goes on walks every day. She doesn't mind not having just one eye as her life is now so good. Cilla is loved very much by everyone who knows her.

Did you know?

Dogs can see a lot better in the dark than humans can.

But then somebody did care and Cilla was rescued. She was taken from the breeding shed and suddenly Cilla's life changed. It all became a lot, lot better. Much less scary for Cilla.

Lots of people began to care for her. For the first time in her life, Cilla found out that people loved her.
